their new building to-day with a grand opening.
To-day will mark an epoch in the history of business circles in this city, and if Messrs. Lansburgh's success in the future equals their past good fortune Washington will point with pride to their A. T. Stewart. The building h s aircady been described in these columns, and will be fully equal, if not more luxurious than anticipated. The work, a most without exception, has been performed by Washington arrisans, and with Washington material. The French plate-glass windows were furnished by Mr. Z. D. Gilman. The elevator, the largest in the city, is an improved Otis, noiseless and absolutely safe. The architects are Messrs, Cities and Schulze: the contractor for brickwork is D. T. Cissell: for cut-stone work, Messrs. Acker & Co.; for cust and wrought from work, Mr. J. D. McGilli; for the metal roofing, Messrs. Hayward & Hutchinson; for the woodwork and interior finishings, C. C. Martin; for the steamheating, Baker, Smith & Co.; for the plumbing, J. D. Suman. The architecture of the store is plain but quaint, giving an air of solidity. Every portion is brought into easy communication with weery other. On the first foor will be the retail store proper; on the second, ready-made garments of every description in glass cases; the third story for storing goods, and the fourth as a work-room.
